‘Private tongues’ or ‘prayer language’ is an invention within the second half of the 20th Century and popularised by Oral Roberts and other Word-Faith teachers. (1)

7. False

1Corinthians 14:15 ‘...I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also’. Some Christians use this verse to allow for the practice of speaking in an unknown tongue without interpretation. However, the words ‘and’ and ‘also’ absolutely refute such error. The word ‘also’ connects both ‘spirit’ and ‘understanding’ together. (The Greek word ‘understanding’ is ‘nous’, literally in many places translated ‘mind’).

The command is to pray or sing with understanding also and at the same time. The ‘spirit’ here is also not the Holy Spirit but the human spirit, (vs.14 ‘my spirit’). ‘Praying with the spirit’ and ‘singing with the spirit’ must be done with ‘understanding’ in the mind, both to the speaker and any listener! There is no scripture that allows ‘tongues’ in church or in private that does not have interpretation and understanding with it. (2)

8. False

Hell is not mentioned as many times as Heaven. Jesus did speak about Heaven more than Hell as a concordance would show, remembering also that ‘Heaven’ is also spoken of in different terms (eg. ‘Abraham’s bosom’ (Lk.16:22); ‘Father’s house’ (Jn.14:2)...

4. False

The 'usward' is the 'beloved' mentioned numerous times in the same passage. This Epistle is specifically written to the 'beloved' - 'beloved, I now write unto you' (vs.1)... 'beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing ...' (vs.8)... 'Wherefore, beloved, seeing that you look for such things, be diligent that you may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless' (vs.14)... 'You therefore, beloved, seeing you know these things before...' (vs.17)...

The primary context is about the end of this age and the sureness of the Lord's coming for his 'beloved'. The rules of grammar and Greek show that the 'any' and the 'all' cannot refer to any other pronoun but to the 'us' previous (the 'beloved'). This was acknowledged by many commentators (eg. see Matthew Henry).

5. False

Many Christians fail to read the little word 'not'. The passage is not saying 'I could blot out his name' or any other possibility of a name being blotted out. In fact it is saying the opposite!: 'I will NOT blot out his name out of the book of life'. The overcomers and those who are clothed in the righteousness of Christ will not have their names blotted out.

6. False

The above is only one half this verse - the rest of the verse is 'but he that prophesies edifies the church'. Paul does not commend this 'unknown tongue' in 1 Corinthians 14 but rather contrasts it with something that edifies the church. I Corinthians 14 continually contrasts the singular 'unknown tongue' with 'prophesies' or with the plural 'tongues' (see vs.18,19). Paul never speaks in favour of the 'unknown tongue'. 1 Corinthians 14 is correcting the church for this very problem - selfishness!

No gift is for self but rather for the body of Christ! The gifts were given to 'profit all' in the body of believers (1Cor.12:7). Nowhere do the Scriptures promote self edification: (Read Rom.15:1-2; 1Thess.4:11).

During the middle ages explorers believed in a ‘great southland’ called by many ‘Terra Australis Incognita’ (‘The Unknown Southland’). In 1606 the Portuguese and Roman Catholic explorer Pedro Fernandez de Quiros thought he had discovered this great ‘southland’ when he came to what is now known as Vanuatu. He called it the ‘Great Southland of the Holy Spirit’.

The term ‘Australia’ was in honour of Austria and of King Philip’s wife Margaret. Proclamations were made and Masses performed - in the name of the Roman Catholic faith which included the virgin Mary and the Pope.

Quiros discovered Vanuatu, not Australia. (See ‘Diakrisis’ article May/June 2014)

2. False

‘TULIP’ is a 20th c. invention. At the original Synod of Dort (1618) when Arminianism was refuted there was no ‘TULIP’ used in the refutation. (1)

3. True

Most, if not all revivals and the American ‘Awakenings’ were all begun under Calvinistic preaching and doctrine. All the early major mission societies, revivalists and evangelists (including Charles Spurgeon) were strongly ‘Calvinistic’.
