

About the Author and the Ministry

Terry Arnold holds a Doctorate in Theology (Dth), a Masters degree (MABS) and several diplomas. He was founder and president of South Pacific Bible Institute, a Bible college training and equipping people for ministry. In addition he was the founder of Hervey Bay Bible Church in Queensland, Australia. He has for 25 years served as an elder and then pastor.

Terry is the author of several books and is involved in a full time ministry of teaching, informing and equipping the church. He is also editor of a growing worldwide publication 'Diakrisis (Australia)'.

His ministry includes preaching/teaching and conducting seminars and conferences in a wide range of churches and colleges.

TA Ministries is a non-denominational and non-profit faith ministry founded in 1989 when the book 'To Catholics Whom I Love' was written by Terry Arnold. This book went through several re-prints and served as a fruitful outreach to Roman Catholics.

In 1996 the ministry became a full-time operation with the introduction of a free newsletter, later named 'Diakrisis (Australia)'.

Diakrisis is published bi-monthly to teach, inform and equip the church of Biblical truths and to warn of false teaching. It has also been a valuable reference aid to hundreds of pastors/elders.

Sanctification Systems ~ True And False

Perhaps the biggest problem of the modern sanctification ‘methods’ is that they detract from the conversion experience by saying that the new birth was not enough. Yet, did we not receive ‘all spiritual blessings’ at salvation? (Eph.1:3).

May we not confuse what God has done for us in justification with what God is doing in us in sanctification. Let us not grieve the Holy Spirit and His work with ‘experiences’ that are not of ‘the faith once delivered to the saints’. May we trust God and His great salvation to combat the presence of sin. Being continuously controlled by the Holy Spirit (Eph.5:18) is not an option but a command that comes with the blessing of salvation.

One of the hallmarks of cults and false religion is a confusion in understanding the differences between Justification and Sanctification. Even within Christendom the two systems have become so confused that it is arguably now unwise to teach one without teaching the other. The Gospel is being filtered through sanctification rather than Justification.

Justification is an outside, legal and forensic work of God for us because of the substitutionary work of Christ on the cross. It is a once only past act where the penalty of sin is settled forever. It is righteousness imputed (credited, reckoned) to the believer, (Rom.4). However sanctification is an inside work of the Holy Spirit and is positional at salvation and then progressive, (1Jn.3:3; Phil.2:12,13; 1Cor.1:2). Sanctification is imparted to us from within by the Holy Spirit.

Sanctification is synonymous with holiness and often translated from the same Greek word (‘hagiasmos’). It means separation from sin and the world, and separation to God. The problem with some holiness teaching is that justification and sanctification are confused and people begin to strive for a holiness to make themselves feel righteous with God.

It is God’s command that we pursue holiness, (Heb.12:14: ‘follow’ - ‘dioko’ - to pursue, press after). Unlike Justification, sanctification somewhat involves our surrender and effort. We are to ‘lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us...’ (Heb.12:1) However, no amount of work in striving for holiness can ever make us positionally right with God (justification), but rather it conforms us more and more into the image of Christ, (Rom.8:29; Col.3:10).

Over the last 150 years various new forms of sanctification doctrines have been introduced. Many involve a second experience or a point where we are supposedly given a new level of power to live a sanctified life. However the orthodox historical teaching is that we are positionally holy at salvation and then progressively worked out in us. This teaching is not only clearly seen in Scripture but also in various confessions of faith (Baptist, Westminster, etc), down through the centuries. These confessions made it clear that the Holy Spirit and the Word of God continued to give power over the dominion of sin which was broken at salvation and that it was ongoing - there being a war between the Spirit and the flesh. The Westminster confession of faith stated: 'The dominion of sin is broken, though the presence of sin is not entirely eliminated. Just as Penicillin may break a fever just destroying the dominion of a disease, and yet some time elapses before every trace of the disease is eliminated, so it is with sin....'

There is a difference between surviving sin and reigning sin. At the new birth we are given a new nature. It predominates over the flesh, (Rom.8:9,10). Although the 'old man is crucified that the body of sin might be destroyed' (Rom.6:6; Gal.2:20; 'destroyed' - 'katargeo' - rendered inactive, idle, useless), sin has not been completely annihilated or made extinct. Sin remains in the flesh until the future redemption of our bodies, (Rom.8:21-23). In justification we have been freed from the penalty of sin, (Col.2:13,14; Eph.1:7); in sanctification we have been and are being freed from the power of sin, (2Tim.4:18; Rom.6:7,18,22); and in glorification we will be free from the presence of sin, (Rom.8:21-23; Phil.3:21; 2Cor.5:1-8; 1Cor.15:52-54).

Sanctification/holiness is not limited to any special area of our life but is a total surrender to the Lordship of Jesus Christ and separation from the world and sin. There are no short-cut methods to holiness! Various 'baptisms' or other methods used to gain a pseudo power and holiness are man made methods to produce something that is already promised at salvation. Such methods remove the necessity of striving against sin by the help of the Holy Spirit and the use of Scripture. 'Be filled with the Spirit' (Eph.5:18) is a command to be continuously controlled ('pleroo' - controlled continuously) by the Holy Spirit. It is not an outside filling and it is not an event subsequent to salvation. In the original language of Scripture it is not a matter of us having more of the Holy Spirit but the Holy Spirit having more of us!

One of the worst things about human methods of sanctification is the spiritual pride and the separation of Christians into 'classes'. Many systems that teach a superior subsequent work of grace inadvertently produce two classes of Christians - those that have it and those that don't. This in itself is a hallmark of the cults. Even renowned holiness writers like Andrew Murray arguably fostered such distinctions with phrases such as: 'Most Christians have not experienced this' or 'Most Christians have fallen short at this point'.

Other systems of sanctification teach we have to be 'emptied' and renounce any effort of our own. However, we are not born again to be empty vessels, but rather the written Word of God 'transforms' (changes) us by 'renewing', not emptying our corrupt minds, (Rom.12:2). These systems arguably also avoid the inevitable struggle against sin and a reliance on the written Word of God. Sanctification is inextricably linked to the Word!: 'Sanctify them through thy Word...', (Jn.17:17).

The holiness experience is a battle, (Rom.7:23-25). We don't get progressively holy by emotional experiences or any other methods but rather by being in the written Word and separating ourselves from sin and the pollution of the world. The Scriptural words linked with sanctification are fighting terms! - 'mortify', 'crucify', 'strive', 'wrestle', 'fight', etc.

The danger in these methods of so-called sanctification is that it arguably causes Christians to relax in the battle against sin. It is not a matter of 'let go and let God'. Sanctification involves surrender to the Holy Spirit and the 'feet' to that surrender is action. We are to 'present' our bodies, (Rom.12:1) and take up our cross daily, (Lk.9:23; 14:27) and told to 'work out your own salvation', (Phil.2:12).

Another dangerous system of sanctification was taught by Charles Finney. Finney taught several heresies.* One was 'Entire Sanctification': 'Now as entire sanctification exists in perfect obedience to the law of God, and as the law requires nothing more than the right use of whatever strength we have, a state of entire sanctification is attainable in this life on the ground of natural ability.' This teaching again goes against progressive sanctification as taught down through the centuries and confuses glorification with sanctification, (1Jn.3:2). Even Wesley wrote a book 'A Plain Account of Christian Perfection' yet on his death bed he admitted he had not achieved it.
